Premier Designs

Imagine you are a homeowner with a vision for the pool you want built. You know precisely what you want but have no clue as to how to turn your dream into a reality. Those are the types of projects Natures Creations enjoys tackling. "We're shapers of flowing water," says David Schneider, owner and head design engineer. "We take an idea and make it happen."

Natures Creations takes into account every factor during the design phase. They are not ones to use a tired blueprint recycled from the latest startup software; Schneider and his expert team of designers and builders review a home's surroundings before mixing in ideas gleaned from the homeowner. If the home is in the high desert, for example, the designers may suggest an exotic oasis; a mountain backdrop may inspire a grotto covered in waves of grasses and flowers. "If your home is a 19th century East Coast estate and you want to capture the grace that defines this style of home, I will design a pool and spa that reflects and respects its past," Schneider says.

From drafting the building plans to post-construction maintenance, Natures Creations offers total support to its clients. Known for using striking outdoor lighting features, distinctive rockscaping and deck layouts, and assisting in landscape design, the company's projects include not only outdoor pools, but also spas and fountains.

Additionally, Natures Creations constructs indoor pool spaces that become the new family room for many homes.

Natures Creations, a gold member of the Genesis 3 Design Group, also holds memberships in the Association of Pool & Spa Professionals and the NMHBA, New Mexico Home Builder's Association. v
