SANTA FE, NEW MEXICO

Innovative, Unique and Inspiring

Natures Creations thrives on designing, constructing, and executing custom water features for discriminating clients. Creating oases of spectacular beauty for 30 years, Natures Creations provides its clients an exquisite eye for detail and the ability to create outdoor water features that meld seamlessly and beautifully with the natural landscape.

At a canine and equine rescue sanctuary north of Santa Fe, New Mexico, Dave Schneider, owner and chief designer of Natures Creations, worked closely with his client to design a pool suitable for "paws in water" on hot summery days. A few steps down to an area for bellies to cool off came complete with custom imported dog paw tiles. The water slide, flanked by three bronze colts, is glass Sicis tiles from Italy. "My company's number one goal is ultimate customer satisfaction" says Schneider, as he describes the designing process of this spectacular backyard oasis. With horses grazing peacefully in a meadow beyond the pool and spa area, this truly is a stunning Southwest paradise.

Natures Creations provides a complete package from concept to finish product. Starting with the prospective client's ideas, they begin the planning stage of the water features and surrounding landscape. Once approved, they begin the process working on construction to finish details, colors, textures and drawings. Working with their architects, Natures Creations specifies equipment, hydraulics, filtration, controllers, and all safety issues. They also provide service after construction such as weekly service and winterizing pools. Natures Creations offers complete design packages along with construction and site management for the project.

In early 2009, Schneider was accepted into the Society of WaterShape Designers. This exclusive membership is given to watershape designers who have successfully completed an intense pool-building and design curriculum. He is also a gold member with the prestigious Genesis 3 Design Group. Natures Creations is a member of the New Mexico Homebuilders Association (NMHA) and the American Institute of Architects. ♦
